AIA what does it stand for?

Organized in 1857 "to unite in fellowship the architects of this continent, and to combine their efforts so as to promote the artistic, scientific and practical efficiency of the profession," The American Institute of Architects is today a strong professional association of nearly 20,000 corporate members and 3,000 associate members. Its broad program of activities, designed to advance the practice and profession of architecture and increase its service to society, is formulated by an elected Board of Directors and implemented by a system of commissions and committees.

At the national convention each year, the general membership elects the seven officers who serve as the Institute's Executive Committee. The Board of Directors is composed of this Executive Committee plus the 18 directors who represent each of the Institute's geographic regions. The authority of this board to create Institute policy and direct its activities derives from the action of the membership and the Institute bylaws.

More than 60 committees put the activities into effect. Their work is coordinated by grouping them according to area of interest under the Executive Committee or one of five commissions. The latter include the Commission on the Professional Society, on Education and Research, on Professional Practice, on Architectural Design and on Public Affairs. Commission and committee members are selected by the president and board, usually for one-year terms.

A national headquarters staff assists in the work of the commissions and committees. A staff member is assigned to each, to keep its records, handle correspondence, report its activities and provide individually required services. The headquarters staff also performs such specialized functions as maintaining a library, conducting a broad-scope public relations program, publishing the AIA JOURNAL, publishing and handling the sale of documents and books, maintaining membership records and managing the Institute's business affairs.

AIA standards of ethical practice

INTRODUCTION

These Standards are statements of ethical principles having broad applicability to professional persons. Accordingly, the enumeration of particular duties and the proscription of certain conduct does not negate the existence of other obligations logically flowing from such principles. Conduct proscribed as unethical must be construed to include lesser offenses, such as attempts and aiding-and-abetting. Deviation from these Standards shall be subject to discipline in proportion to the seriousness of the violation.

The Board of Directors of The American Institute of Architects, or its delegated authority, shall have sole power of interpreting these Standards of Ethical Practice, and its decisions shall be final, subject to the provisions of the Bylaws.

The following provisions of the Bylaws of The Institute form the basis for all disciplinary actions taken under the Standards of Ethical Practice.

IMPLEMENTATION

Bylaws: Chapter 14, Article 1, Section1(c):

Any deviation by a corporate member from any of the Standards of Ethical Practice of The Institute or from any of the Rules of The Board supplemental thereto, or any action by him that is detrimental to the best interests of the profession and The Institute shall be deemed to be unprofessional conduct on his part, and ipso facto he shall be subject to discipline by The Institute.

CHARGES PRIVILEGED

Bylaws: Chapter 14, Article 5, Section 1:

Every formal charge of unprofessional conduct shall be privileged. Except as noted in this Article, all charges, proceedings, evidence, data, notices, transcripts and any other matters relating to the charges shall be confidential. The same qualifications shall apply to any material coming before a chapter governing body or committee in any matter, formal or informal, of alleged unprofessional conduct.

In unusual situations when the President of The Institute (or the Secretary in his absence) determines, after consideration of all the circumstances, that the best interests of the profession, or The Institute, or one of its component bodies so require, he may authorize the release of sufficient information concerning a case to meet the situation.

PREAMBLE

Bylaws: Chapter 1, Article 1, Section2:

The objects of The American Institute of Architects shall be to organize and unite in fellowship the architects of the United States of America; to combine their efforts so as to promote the aesthetic, scientific, and practical efficiency of the profession; to advance the science and art of planning and building by advancing the standards of architectural education, training, and practice; to coordinate the building industry and the profession of architecture to insure the advancement of the living standards of our people through their improved environment; and to make the profession of ever-increasing service to society.

OBLIGATIONS TO THE PUBLIC

- An architect shall above all serve and promote the public interest in the effort to improve human environment, and he shall act in a manner to bring honor and dignity to the profession of architecture. He shall conform to the registration laws governing the practice of architecture in any jurisdiction in which he practices.
- An architect shall practice in a manner that will support the human rights of all mankind and shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant because of sex, race, creed, or national origin.
- 3. An architect shall not use paid advertising; indulge in self-laudatory, exaggerated, misleading, or false publicity; or solicit, or permit others to solicit in his name, advertisements for any publication presenting his work.
- 4. An architect shall not publicly endorse a product, system, or service, or permit the use of his name or photograph to imply such endorsement. However, he may be identified with any product, system, or service designed or developed by him.

OBLIGATIONS TO THE CLIENT OR EMPLOYER

- An architect shall preserve the confidences of his client or employer.
- An architect shall represent truthfully and clearly to his prospective client or employer his qualifications and capabilities to perform services.

Statement in compliance with Consent Judgment entered June 19, 1972:

Under the Standards of Ethical Practice of The American Institute of Architects the submission of price quotations for architectural services is not unethical. An architect is free to state a fee in offering his services. In so doing, however, he must be careful not to violate any law, ordinance, rule, or regulation of any government or agency, official or instrumentality thereof. He must never subordinate the quality and adequacy of his services to any consideration which would tend to impugn the integrity of his professional practice or to jeopardize the professional standards which should at all times guide the practice of his profession.

7. An architect shall not undertake any activity or employment, have any significant financial or other interest, or accept any contribution, if it would reasonably appear that such activity, employment, interest or contribution could compromise his professional judgment or prevent him from serving the best interest of his client or employer.

Interpretation by The Board of Directors, June 1971.

This Standard provides that the architect must avoid any activity which would put, or which could reasonably be construed to put, his financial interest in competition with that of his client; activities during the construction phase are particularly sensitive to such conflicts.

He may not engage in building contracting where compensation, direct or indirect, is derived from profit on labor and materials furnished in the building process. He may engage in construction management as a professional for professional compensation only.

As a participating owner of a project, he may perform in any role legally consistent with the position of ownership.

A real or apparent conflict of interest must be resolved in the best interest of the client.

The Institute holds that the Standards of Ethical Practice are compromised when a member is employed by individuals or organizations offering to the public architectural services which are in any manner inconsistent with these Standards.

An architect may make contributions of service or anything of value to those endeavors which he deems worthy, but not for the purpose of securing a commission or influencing his engagement or employment.

OBLIGATIONS TO THE PROFESSION AND THE BUILDING INDUSTRY

- 9. An architect shall not attempt to obtain, offer to undertake or accept a commission for which he knows another legally qualified individual or firm has been selected or employed, until he has evidence that the latter's agreement has been terminated and he gives the latter written notice that he is so doing.
- 10. An architect shall recognize the contribution of others engaged in the design and construction of the physical environment and shall not knowingly make false statements about the professional work, or maliciously injure or attempt to injure the prospects, practice, or employment position of those so engaged.
- 11. An architect shall encourage education and research, and the development and dissemination of useful technical information relating to the design and construction of the physical environment.
- 12. An architect shall not offer his services in a design competition except as provided in the competition code of The American Institute of Architects.

DOCUMENTS

While local blueprint suppliers stock and sell most AIA documents, CSA does keep a limited number of associated documents in stock. These include the State Fee Schedule, which is available to AIA members at $1.25 each and Non-Members at $2.50. The Annual Handbook/Directory Issue is $6.50 for Non-Members.

FILMS

As Public Relations effort, the State organization (thru its Chapters) has for free loan the following films:

"No Time for Delay" shows how a community can rid itself of ugliness and create beauty and order.

"A Child Went Forth" co-produced by Educational Facilities Laboratories and the U.S. Office of Education, discusses the urban school and innovations needed to improve it.

"Right of Way" which addresses itself to the mass transportation problems is also available. Reservations of these films can be made by calling 244-8959. The AIA will also send a member to discuss the topic.

MEETINGS

Two major meetings per year are held by the State Organization: the Annual Student Awards Scholarship Program, scheduled for Spring; and the Annual Meeting of the State Society in November. During 1972, the date of November 17th in Colorado Springs is being considered by the Board of Directors and will be firmed later.

The Annual Student Awards program is perhaps the most newsworthy, and deserving architectural students are assisted by the Educational Fund of the State Society in furthering their goals. This year's ceremony, held on April 20th at the Boulder Country Club, is fully covered on Page of this Directory.

MAJOR PROGRAMS INCLUDE:

Legislative Affairs, and liaison with State Gov't Agencies, Boards and Commissions, Construction Industry Relations.

CSA president's report

The Colorado Society of the American Institute of Architects (CSA) is comprised of the membership of two chapters within the state of Colorado. The Colorado Central Chapter and Colorado Southern Chapter both have had busy and productive programs during this past year. The governing board of the CSA devoted its energies to areas of state and national matters. While professional architectural matters are of continuing concern to each architect, CSA devoted most of its efforts to the state of our environment and related public and private policy affairs.

The American Institute of Architects (AIA) through its effective committee work and headquarters staff help is a vital catalyst in making these professional and public programs function. The State Society (CSA) and the 2 chapters become important elements of this network organization. The AIA works with Congress and all the agencies in Washington, D.C. on a day to day basis keeping the membership informed through the State and local chapters. Frequently, action is required of us to help with certain national programs.

We all know that each day the government in Washington affects the lives of everyone across the country. When Congress debates and votes on environmental affairs the Architects, through network organization of this AIA/State and local chapter can react to these matters by reaching our Congressional delegations from "back home".

On the State level there is a parallel to this national procedure. The CSA, through the officers, board members and our Executive Secretary, devote a majority of our time in working at the State Legislature. This past year we have testified and worked on many bills that concern our environment. Even though we never worked harder on public matters, it is sad to report that, on balance, the people lost and the private exploiters of the Colorado landscape won. It was amazing to see so many legislator/land speculator types come out of the woodwork and defeat practically every effort to apply some sanity in the way we use our resources. Self interest rode high at noon on Colfax and Grant when the future of our State was being divided up.

Our Governor John Love has proposed many programs related to land use and growth during this 1971-1972 legislature. He should be commended for his foresight in proposing some sense of responsibility towards our future. The legislature should be condemned for their flagrant disrespect of our State.

In a creative attempt to instill some sanity to the way we develop land for our population explosion, the AIA proposed this year a "Policy for National Growth". Developed by a special task force committee and finally presented to the national AIA convention this year in Houston, this plan has the promise of providing some logic to the way land is developed.

This report is about America at its growing edge. It outlines a set of policies that can enable this nation — as a responsible member of a threatened world of nations — to shape its growth and improve the quality of its community life.

The strategic objective of these policies is a national mosaic of community architecture designed to be in equilibrium with its natural setting and in sympathetic relationship with its using society.

In brief, the report urges:

- A. That changes be made in a number of the "ground rules" (e.g., tax policy, governmental organization, etc.) which presently shape the development of American communities;
- B. that the nation develop the capacity to build and rebuild at neighborhood scale (the "Growth Unit") ensuring open occupancy, environmental integrity, and a full range of essential facilities and services;
- C. that federal, state, and local governments in partnership set the pace and standards for growth policy through a special impact program affecting 60 of the nation's urban regions and a third of the nation's expected growth between 1970-2000.

In our daily professional lives we are seeing rapidly changing ways in which a construction project proceeds. There are new names for combinations of procedures such as "Fast Track", "Construction Management", "Design/Build Teams". We have had several meetings regarding these new approaches to building in attempt to accommodate our professional and legal roles to these processes. Fast answers to these evolving problems are in short supply but it is our firm belief that the coming year will keep the AIA busy with conferences, seminars, and intensive committee meetings to educate ourselves in order to adapt to the changes.

One area of concentration that underlies the changing architectural profession is the licensing exam and procedures of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards as it relates to the Colorado State licensing law. This next year we will become more familiar with these changes and will have to up date the Colorado law.

We again will have the 1972-1973 legislative year and will look forward to being on the scene accepting our role in public affairs as it relates to the environment.

Maxwell L. Saul, CSA President June 3, 1972

A GAF Timberline roof. The only thing better than the way it looks is the way it lasts.

A GAF Timberline roof gives a building the rugged, prestigious look of wood shake shingles.

But Timberline also provides the safety and maintenance-free convenience of modern asphalt shingles.

Simply put, Timberline gives homeowners the best of both worlds.

Timberline won't rot, crack, warp or split. It's fire-resistant. And Timberline has a special self-sealing adhesive that helps to keep it down in high winds.

As for beauty, you have to see Timberline to really appreciate it. Its unique double-layer, staggered-cut design remarkably duplicates the deep uneven shadow pattern of a wood shingle roof. And it comes in six subtle wood tone colors. All with the rich varied shadow line that can do wonders for the appearance of a building.

Timberline asphalt roof shingles are fast and easy to apply.

Warranted for 25 years by GAF, one of America's leading manufacturers of building materials.

legislative report

by Barbara Light Executive Secretary

As AIA members, you have been receiving the legislative reports of CSA, so I don't want to delve into those in any more detail. However, this being an election year, a more philosophic analysis of the political process might be in order. Both CEC (engineers) and AIA (architects) are working to develop governmental action groups at the local level. To date, some 30 state AIA components have such active programs, or are establishing themselves. In Colorado, your state organization has been involved at the legislative level for 5 active years now. In that time, it has become increasingly apparent which legislators are concerned with the environment in Colorado. As the papers recently stated, those few are: Rep. Sandy Arnold (R-Boulder), Rep. Harold McCormick (R-Canon City), and Rep. Dick Lamm (D-Denver); with only Sen. John Bermingham (R-Denver) mentioned on the Senate side. There are others, of course, who have been responsive to certain issues; but too many that, because of their own special interests, could not unsnare themselves in order to truly represent their constituents.

Lost this session was the Department of Transportation bill, and not for the first time either. Also lost was John Bermingham's Environmental Policy Act, which he informed the architects about at the Annual Meeting last November. While some Land Use proposals got through, greatly weakened, others were also lost. Water bill legislative actions bogged down at the final wire, and entered into further controversies in the Senate after Conference Committee reports. Rep. Harold McCormick, chief sponsor of the Water Bill, was one of the few and brave legislators who took to the mike and said what he felt about the lobbying pressures of "certain special interest" groups. When Sen. Bermingham did the same in the Senate, the press had a field day, which continued to the end of the session.

I might state here that, so long as the people of Colorado continue to fund a part-time legislature, those special interests will continue to dominate any actions at the state level. Perhaps that too will have to be reevaluated by the people in years to come.

The design professionals must continue to support good and effective legislation, and if they can get further involved in the political processes, that would be a plus faction. 1971 AIA president, Robert Hastings, stated: "The architect today, and the institute he directs, must now plunge actively into political life, enlist allies, swing votes, mobilize community action, and take positions on issues that once were thought to be outside our rightful area of concern." An expanding role in government activities is a goal worth working toward, both on the local and national scene.

Architects attending the Houston convention in May had a chance to delve into national problems, with reports and discussions on the National Policy Task Force taking prime concentration. This effort can cover the nation from coast to coast, if the membership would get truly involved and support such action. Locally, we will have to sit and wait to see what the November elections bring forth in Colorado. Is the public truly fed up with the legislative processes, and untrustworthy of their representatives? Or, is the other theory correct, they do believe their elected officials are doing a credible job and they support their actions? Some will be back, others will be replaced, and in the democratic society in which we live, both situations may be good. Broad scale citizen involvement can make the legislators face the issues. The design professional can also lend his expertise in many areas, and perhaps direct such actions at the local level. County commissioners weild a great deal of power in deciding land use development, and not many are professionals in that field. They do rely upon, and can call upon, experts to advise them. The Denver Planning Board is another case in point.

When the architect's term on the current board expired, he was not replaced with another design professional — and none sits on the Board today. In Colorado Springs that too has been true when those with the expertise are continually on the outside looking in, what can be done? Concise and joint efforts with those related to the profession, and mutual aims developed by a well thought out course of action. The entire construction industry has much to gain, and the citizens of the State will benefit by that involvement.

Colorado's environment is too precious to let it develop into the kind of place it can become, without the assistance of those truly "lobbying in the public's behalf." Think of that, this election year, and lend YOUR hand to the foray.

(Footnote: Since this Directory is also being mailed to all the elected officials in state government, it may be another small step forward for mankind.)

how to communicate with your legislator

Here are three simple recommendations for effective communication with your Legislator:

KNOW YOUR LEGISLATOR

If you don't, it is your own fault because your Legislator is about the easiest public servant to meet. Don't feel that your contact with your Legislator is an imposition on him. As long as he hears from his constituency, he knows he is on the right "wave length." He respects your straight-forward communication and he never tires of hearing from you when you can contribute to the welfare of the State. He wants to know you and your problem even more than you want to know him because after all he realizes he is your voice in Colorado and he is very much influenced by your suggestions.

KNOW YOUR SUBJECT

Every day your Legislator receives dozens of letters and he has little or no staff to answer these letters. Only 1 letter in 25 is from a constituent who knows his subject. Every day your Legislator may receive dozens of telegrams urging his vote for or against a certain bill. At best the telegram is brief and does not provide enough information about you or the bill.

The most effective correspondence with your Legislator is to talk with him personally and if this is not possible, write him a letter on your business letterhead. Base this communication on what you know from your own personal experience. Provide your Legislator with facts and figures. Be complete but brief.

SYNOPSIS

As required by the Bylaws of The Institute, when more than one Chapter exists in a state component of the AIA, the State Organization must be chartered to bind in fellowship and professional development the architects of those areas. As a coordinating component of The Institute, the CSA's Board of Directors accepts that charge with enthusiasm, and directs a course of action throughout the year that can best develop those programs.

It is this unifying effort that is most purposeful, and directs policies at the State level which in turn direct legislative actions and positions of the CSA. The Board of Directors is authorized, thru its members at the Annual Meeting, to take over this authority on behalf of the entire State's membership.

The State Organization of the Colorado Society of Architects was chartered in 1968 by The Institute.

Past Presidents:

1969, C. Gordon Sweet, AIA (deceased) 1970, James Hunter, FAIA 1971, John D. Anderson, AIA

KNOW THE PROCEDURE TO FOLLOW

Your Legislator is a busy person who must attend to the business of earning a living for his or her family in addition to serving you and your neighbors in the Legislature. Time is, therefore, precious. While personal contact is by far the most effective way to communicate, be prepared to get your message across in a minimum period of time. Remember, numerous other people are anxious to get through also.

During the session, your Legislator either is attending committee meetings or is on the floor where legislation is being considered. Only in the evening is there time to read telegrams and letters. Time is precious here also.

If your Legislator is not a member of the committee concerned with a specific bill, you should request that he discuss the legislation with the members of the pertinent committee. Write to your Legislator when the bill is pending in committee, don't wait until it is on the floor. If your Legislator pleases you with a vote on any issue, write and tell him so. Once in a great while a Legislator will get a letter of thanks, and is very likely to remember it when received.

Major Medical Insurance

If you, as a member, don't have Major Medical coverage as a part of an employer provided fringe benefit package, getting this type of insurance through some other means is essential for family protection. As a result of your affiliation with the AIA you have a plan available to you, which, because of your Association's mass buying power, offers premium which is much lower than premiums charged for comparable policies on the open market. Since 1969 coverage improvements have been made on two separate occasions, at no increase in premium, which makes this program even more important to you.

In these days when hospital and medical costs are the fastest rising items in the cost of living index, it is important that you protect you and your family against a major medical catastrophe. For details on how you can save premium dollars on quality medical coverage contact: WILLIAM C. BULLARD and ASSOCIATES of the WASHINGTON NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY, First National Bank Building, Suite 717, 333 West Hampden Avenue, Englewood, Colorado 80110. Phone: 789-4483. # Exposed Aggregates for Precast Surfaces

Successful use of this finish requires aggregates on which architects may rely for color, structural and bonding strength and impermeability.

The cost of exposed aggregate is but a small percentage of the cost per square foot of the finished product. Still, it is just as important to specify clearly what aggregates the architect is entitled to have in the work, as it is to see that the work is done by reliable manufacturers.

Colonna and Company of Colorado has been crushing Suprema Aggregates in the heart of the Colorado Rockies for 35 years. For the past 15 years it has specialized in crushing the following:

- Suprema Milky Quartz
   Suprema Black Obsidian
   Suprema Pink Granite
- Suprema Light Gray Granite Suprema Garni Green
- Suprema Royal Spar Suprema Sunset Red Suprema Green Quartz Suprema Devils Head Quartz
- Suprema Lido Quartz ■

CSA educational fund 1972

The Heritage of the Educational Fund was given to you — the Architects of Colorado. This brief look into the origin, the primary aim, and the ultimate goal may well help us all to plan ahead toward the tomorrow and the betterment of our Profession. This brief history, mixed with the desires of five men for their profession, should make all of us stop and think today. Do we owe something to the future of our profession also?

In the beginning, some thirty-eight years ago, five Colorado Architects on January 23, 1934 at the Final Annual Meeting and Dissolution of the AAA, the President, Robert K. Fuller, announced on behalf of the Directors of the Association "the creation of a Trust Fund to advance the interest of the profession of Architecture in the State of Colorado". These men were: William E. Fisher, FAIA; George H. Williamson, FAIA; William N. Bowman, AIA; Fred E. Mountjoy, AIA; and Robert K. Fuller, FAIA. Born was this Trust Fund from the ten year old dream and "the desire of these men to provide an instrument whereby, some day, sufficient income would be realized to be able to award Scholarships, Grants, Prizes, etc. to the betterment of their profession".

The intent or primary aim of the Fund was extremely brief at this beginning. The assets "to be held intact and allowed to grow until such time as the asset value thereof was sufficient in amount to insure a good annual return therefrom". It was "the hope that the amount in the Trust Fund will serve as a nucleus, that it will enhance in value and that now it is established other donations may be made to the Fund". However, no donations were forthcoming the next ten years as had been hoped for. Of these men — all had died except the original Chairman, Robert K. Fuller.

On December 18, 1944 the Turst Fund was transferred to the Colorado Chapter, AIA, as a Chapter Investment Fund, with Mr. Fuller designated as the Permanent Trustee. By the year 1961, the Fund had prospered sufficiently as to realize its initial purpose as stated above, and it was deemed necessary to incorporate as a separate tax-free entity to be known as the Educational Fund, Colorado Chapter, AIA. The Fund was incorporated and shortly thereafter received a tax exempt status.

The Time had now arrived that the five Founders had dreamed of - their ultimate goal was now commencing to unfold. To quote from the December Addenda of 1961 "James E. Koentop, fifth year architectural engineering student at the University of Colorado, received the $600.00 William E. Fisher Memorial Scholarship from the Colorado Chapter of the American Institute of Architects at its November meeting held in Boulder at the Boulder Country Club". This was the first Scholarship awarded and the article goes on to say "It will be of interest to chapter members to learn that the Educational Fund, Colorado Chapter, AIA, is now in operation. By appropriate action of the executive committee, guided by legal council, this fund was incorporated Feb. 16, 1961 as a tax free non-profit corporation". The broad "purpose of the fund is to advance education in architecture by granting of scholarships, prizes, and financial aid to deserving students in architecture and to architects interested in research projects directly related and of value to the architectural profession".

With the death of Mr. Fuller in 1966, the Colorado Chapter, AIA asked his son, Kenneth R. Fuller, to accept the responsibility of the position as Permanent Member of the Board of Trustees. Following the change in the structure of the American Institute of Architects in Colorado in 1969, the Corporate name of the Fund was changed to the Educational Fund, Colorado Society of Architects, AIA to ensure the Fund's continuity and continue its state-wide oriented program. The Board of Trustees, by the Articles of Incorporation, consist of the following officers:

President — President, Colorado Society of Architects Vice-Pres. — Vice President, Colorado Society of Architects Secy/Treas. — Permanent Member, Kenneth R. Fuller

From the first $600.00 scholarship in 1961 to our Projected Award Program for 1972 of $7,000.00, over $35,000.00 has been given in the form of Scholarships, Grants, and various other awards. Over thirty-five young men, as well as licensed architects and teachers, are better professionals today because of this Educational Fund. Our program for this year 1972 — from income received through our investment program, donations, memorials, etc. — represents a figure of twice the amount set-up in the original Trust Fund. Each year the Trustees are encouraged by the number of donations, memorial funds and the like, received — due largely to the very existence of the Educational Fund and its tax-exempt status.

The last ten years substantial contributions have been made to the Fund by individual architects as memorials. Individual architects have endowed to immortality certain other scholarships. Significant donations have also been made by individuals and organizations, allied with the construction industry, to endow annually other scholarships. There are those who send in a memorial check in lieu of flowers to remember a deceased friend. The ways are many and too numerous to list here — if you are truly interested in an Endowment to the betterment of our profession and the Architect of the Future. Remember your Educational Fund is often the gateway for the younger men and the future of our Profession. This is your Educational Fund.

For the Board of Trustees.

10-1-13. Stamp.—Every licensed architect shall have a stamp which must contain the name of the architect, the words "licensed architect, state of Colorado", and the license number of the architect, in such form as may be prescribed by the board, and the architect shall stamp all contract drawings issued from his office for use in this state with such stamp. In case of a partnership of architects, the individual name and license numbers of the several licensed members may appear on a single stamp. - 10-1-14. Licenses—Limitations—requirements—corporations.—(1) No partnership, firm, or association may be licensed as such for the practice of architecture, but this shall not be construed as preventing such combination of persons from using the term "architects" in its business name if each member of the partnership, firm, or association is a licensed architect.
- (2) (a) No corporation shall be considered a professional service corporation under this article unless it is a corporation organized under the "Colorado Corporation Code" or is authorized to do business in Colorado under the "Colorado Corporation Code", and:
  - (b) Three-fourths of all officers and directors in the corporation are architects licensed to practice architecture in the state of Colorado.
  - (c) The president is a director and licensed to practice architecture in the state of Colorado, and
- (d) (i) The articles of incorporation of such corporation provide, and all shareholders of the corporation shall agree, that all shareholders of the corporation shall be jointly and severally liable for all acts, errors, and omissions of the employees of the corporation, or that all shareholders of the corporation shall be jointly and severally liable for all acts, errors, and omissions of the employees of the corporation except during periods of time when the corporation shall maintain in good standing professional liability insurance which shall meet the following minimum standards:
- (ii) The insurance shall insure the corporation against liability imposed upon the corporation by law for damages resulting from any claim made against the corporation arising out of the performance of professional services for others by those officers and employees of the corporation who are licensed by the board to practice architecture.
- (iii) Such policies shall insure the corporation against liability imposed upon it by law for damages arising out of the acts, errors, and omissions of all nonprofessional employees.

Capital letters indicate new material added to existing statutes; dashes through words indicate deletions from existing statutes and such material not part of act.

- (v) The policy may provide that it does not apply to: Any dishonest, fraudulent, criminal, or malicious act or omission of the insured corporation or any stockholder or employee thereof; the conduct of any business enterprise (as distinguished from the practice of architecture) engaged in by the insured corporation or in which the insured corporation may be a partner or which may be controlled, operated, or managed by the insured corporation in its own or in a fiduciary capacity including the ownership, maintenance, or use of any property in connection therewith or bodily injury to, or sickness, disease, or death of any person, or to injury to or destruction of any tangible property, including the loss of use thereof; and such policy may contain other reasonable provisions with respect to policy periods, territory, claims, conditions, and other usual matters.
- (3) Nothing in this article shall be construed as prohibiting a joint venture, partnership, or association between one or several architects, or corporations meeting the requirements of subsection (2) (b) to (2) (d) of this section, and one or several professional engineers, all duly licensed or registered under the respective provisions of the applicable laws of this state; and it shall be lawful for such a corporation, partnership, joint venture, or association to use in its title the words "architects and engineers"; but no identifying media used by any member of such corporation, partnership, joint venture, or association, shall mislead the public as to the fact that such member is licensed as an architect or as a registered professional engineer. No such joint venture, association, or partnership shall continue to use or to include, as a part of the firm name, the name of any member whose official status as a bona fide member of such firm has been severed for more than two years.
- (4) A corporation shall be considered a professional service corporation and shall be entitled to practice architecture in this state if it is a corporation and shall be entitled to practice architecture in this state if it is a corporation organized under the "Colorado Corporation Code" or is authorized to do business in Colorado under the "Colorado Corporation Code", and three-fourths of the officers and directors of the corporation are architects or professional engineers duly licensed or registered under the respective provisions of the applicable laws of the State of Colorado and whose president is either an architect or professional engineer duly licensed or registered under the respective provisions of the applicable laws of the state of Colorado and whose articles of incorporation contain the provisions specified in subsection (2) (d) of this section, if the practice of architecture by such corporation is under the direct supervision of an architect, licensed in the state of Colorado, who is an officer of the corporation.

Charles S. Sink

On approximately July 19, 1946, our planet, wending its way through space in its spiral path around the sun, inadvertantly passed through a mass of negative energy. This momentous event was neither noticed nor recorded but gradually infected and spread its reversal affects at an increasing rate until the present, June, 1972, is now almost a perfect mirror image of the recent past.

Previous friends have become our enemies. Lucky Strikes and Pall Malls and Camels, Tide, Texaco and Shell. What used to be calming to our nerves now gives us cancer. What used to be gas, meaning a liquid, now connotes death dealing smog.

Motherhood, fatherhood, family, et al., went from taken for granted respectability to guilt ridden feelings of over population. Beaming smiles over pregnancy became growls and frowns.

Our enemies also became our friends. "Made in Japan" now means "distributed by: General Motors, RCA or GE." Discord and ear injuring sounds became concerts. Rape became seduction. Women became men. Plastic replaced almost everything and steel replaced silver. It's now healthy to be hungry. It's well dressed to be half naked.

Trade unions now exploit labor. Politicians have become realtors, and Cardinals became war mongers. Ownership means liability, honesty generates suspicion and doubt, academic interest begets ridicule.

Similar dichotomies occured in architecture. Modern ski areas became replicas of the past. Drive-ins are shaped like animals and birds, banks like toilet seats, houses like labyrinths. Concrete is formed to look like shingles, plastic to look like wood, and metal. Careless is now interesting. Shoddy is casual. Vulgarity is freedom. Worst of all: form became function.

The polarizing effect is still in process: Less and fewer will replace growth. No children will be better than any children. Production charts will become flat. Suburbs will celebrate the conversion of a housing project to a playing field. Stockholders will praise a decrease in production. Dams will be torn down and reservoirs drained. Asphalt plowed under and oilwells capped.

Weird things will result. We can swim in the rivers, walk in the hills and breath the air. Architects will remodel and restore rather than destroy and build. Best of all there will be a significant reduction in our liability insurance rate and our A.I.A. dues.

apartment owners: it's how you back it up that counts

Apartment owners know that providing laundry equipment to a building is practically a necessity. But that's only half of it. Once the equipment is installed, you must back it up with prompt service on repairs and maintenance. Service to keep your machines in top condition . . . and to keep your tenants satisfied. The kind of service that only Automatic Laundry Company can provide.

24 hour service seven days a week
 Radio dispatched fleet of service trucks • Guaranteed service • Service on your inoperative machines within two hours. Let Automatic Laundry show you what "service" really is.

colorado south chapter president's report

DeRos Hogue, pres. AIA Colorado South Chapter

This year is pivotal in the short history of the Colorado South Chapter, in that we as architects must find our way into the very heartbeat of the community . . . . . must find our way into the leadership of our fellow citizens, and in a sense, "put our money where our mouth is". It is a crude statement, but we find, as potential shapers of our environment, we are the last ones to know of conditions critical to life in Southern Colorado.

Our efforts in Colorado South this year, are to have our members speak out at every opportunity, be active in our communities, and most of all, accessible to the people who live in Southern Colorado.

Also, since our Chapter is relatively new, we have been suffering growing pains. As the nature of the profession changes rapidly, we have been drafting qualifications for Corporate Membership that demand the highest level of professionalism, while at the same time provide a flexible enough membership to be an effective body to as many practicing architects as can qualify.

Our membership is beginning to have more and more new faces, and as "new blood" comes into the Chapter they are being put to work on activities such as newspaper feature articles, code drafting committees, planning commissions, representation at housing authority meetings, contact work with state legislators, and generally being put to work in areas that will thrust the architects into the center of community activities where they can be a shaping force on matters concerning our surrounding environment. To say the least, "action" is the goal, and I as president feel my greatest responsibility is prying everybody in that "action" where he or she can be most effective. Those who stand off and watch certainly won't be our most popular members!

Finally, I find that as a new Chapter, we must be understanding and compassionate with our colleagues, especially in our highly competitive society. We are attempting to meet each other socially, and begin to know each other, so that we may stand together in a solid front to contest the forces that damage what we feel are irreplaceable attributes, and to stand together to act on and find positive solutions to our society's problems.

I for one am humbled and awed by the talent in our area, and hope in some small way I can tap and direct that talent. Just imagine what a staggering effect it would be on the way we live, if every individual in our Chapter, licensed or unlicensed, could be used to the maximum in our society. With the architect's training and background, he is peculiarly adapted to problem solving, with the addition of intuitive and innovative design talents. I find it an honor to be President of Colorado South Chapter, and in a position of leadership of such a talented group.

Whatis Prior Approval Worth?

Prequalified bidders get the job done right the first time around. With more construction coming in the next 20 years then there has been in the last 200 years, it's time the bidding climate receives something more than passing comment.

The next time you want everybody to bid, ask yourself, "what have I done to upgrade the building industry lately."

SERVICES

CLIENT REFERRAL FILE - AIA members are encouraged to list their firms with our Client Referral Service. Potential clients call us in search of an architect or a firm to do specific kinds of projects. Please fill out your client referral form and send it back to us as soon as possible.

NEWSLETTER - You will receive our newsletter, Field Report, bi-monthly. It will keep you informed on the various committees and activities throughout the state. In the alternate months you will receive Infill, a short "up-date" published to keep you informed of current events.

DOCUMENT/BOOK SALES - We stock the entire inventory of AIA Documents. Members receive a 20% discount. We also have a small bookstore which is stocked with the most current books on office practice, accounting and design techniques as well as a small selection of cards and gifts. Members receive discounts on most books published by the AIA Press.

JOB REFERRAL - Employment opportunities may be listed by firms on the Job Board for $10 per week. Persons looking for employment may pick up copies, no charge, at our office or they can send us self addressed, stamped envelopes and we'll send it to them once a week.

PROGRAMS

DESIGN CONFERENCE AND EXHIBITION - Our annual gathering of architects from all over the state includes two days of professional development programs, business meetings, social events, major displays of new products and services and plenty of peer interaction.

DESIGN AWARDS - The Awards Program seeks to honor works of distinction by our members and to bring to public attention the outstanding architectural services provided by AIAC members. Winners are announced at a special banquet at our Annual Design Conference.

LEGISLATIVE MINUTEMAN - During the legislative session, it is sometimes imperative to contact legislators on a moment's notice regarding AIAC's position on legislation. This program provides the ways and means to accomplish that.

COMMITTEES AND TASK FORCES - The over all welfare of the Profession depends greatly on membership involvement. Many strides have been made in the areas of education, public awareness and regulation. On the following pages you will find the names and phone numbers of those members that are volunteering their time and service in support of the Architectural Profession.

THE PERFECT WINDOW SHOULD BE EASY FOR A HOMEOWNER TO FORGET.

The last thing a homeowner needs to worry about is poor performing windows and patio doors. So specify Semco Wood Windows and Patio Doors and rest easy.

Smooth as silk operation, impressive R-values and air infiltration rates, beavy-duty extruded aluminum on all clad products, loads of specialty capabilities, and a clear-cut, generous warranty make it easy for bomeowners to forget about Semco windows and doors.

But dealers, builders and architects across the country are remembering the Semco name. And wby not? Top-notch quality, big values, and thankful bomeowners. The equation is perfect.

So remember the Semco name; and also the address and phone number of your local supplier.

June 27, 1994

Dear Members and Supporters of AIA Colorado:

Here is your personal copy of the 1994 AIA Colorado Membership Directory. Your directory is designed to be useful for all who communicate with architects and for AIA members to easily access AIA Colorado, our four local Chapters designated as Denver, South, West and North, and each other. It will not only facilitate communication among AIA members, their clients and their business associates, but also incudes:

1994 Board of Directors for AIA Colorado and Telephone Numbers (p. 6)

Telephone numbers for all Chapter Board of Directors (starting on p. xviii)

AIA Colorado Committees & Chairmen, Task Forces & Coordinators and Member Services (starting on p. x)

Dues information (starting on p. xiv with a list for each part of the State)

College of Fellows members and past AIA Colorado Presidents (p. xxvi)

Commonly used numbers and references (p. 10 and 11 of main listing)

AIA Colorado is dedicated to directly serving its members and providing assistance to each of the local chapters in their programs to advance the service of the architectural profession to the public. We appreciate Jim Bingham, Ken Fuller and Naylor Publications for their assistance in the preparation of this directory. We trust that you will utilize this directory in support of architecture in general, and architects in particular.

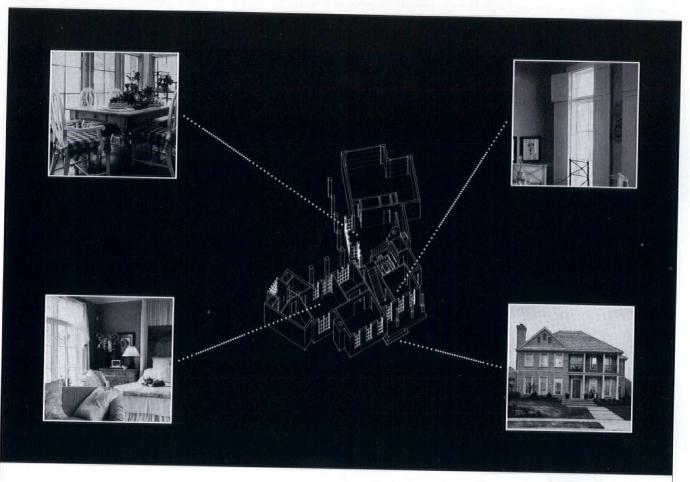

Very truly yours,

John B Rogers, FAIA President 1994

DON'T GET STUCK WITH

Only Weather Shield craftsmen could combine the graceful lines of 7/8 inch muntin bars, the historic beauty of individual lites and the energy efficiency of insulating glass. Other companies have boasted of divided lite windows, but for them, it's really a false front. Most merely adhere a wood grill to their glass and pass it off as TDL. The danger is the adhesive may cause stress fractures in the glass, or the grill may pop off. Weather Shield offers true divided lites along with truly superior craftsmanship. We carefully detail each and every TDL window and door to provide the same look and feel of early American architecture. We also offer TDL across our wide line of styles and shapes — as well as in our True Oak,™ Cherrywood™ and pine options. Choose the TDL that shares a bond with architectural history, rather than a bond with adhesives. For more information, or for the Weather Shield dealer nearest you, call 1-800-477-6808.

AIA Colorado The Colorado Chapter of the American Institute of Architects

AIA Colorado represents architects statewide and unifies the four local Chapters of the American Institute of Architects within Colorado. AIA Colorado seeks to:

unite the architects of the State of Colorado in fellowship;

promote the aesthetic, scientific, and business practice of architecture; advance architectural standards of continuing education, training and practice; as well as build relationships between clients, the construction industry and architects.

AIA Colorado believes that an important purpose of architecture is to create a vision which improves the built environment. This vision is vital to the advancement of the living standards of our communities and provides a service of ever-increasing value to society.

There are four local chapters within the state of Colorado. AIA Denver includes the Denver metropolitan area. Colorado North Chapter includes the cities of Boulder, Fort Collins and Greeley. Colorado South Chapter includes the cities of Colorado Springs, Pueblo, and Montrose. The Colorado West Chapter includes almost all areas in the mountains and west of the Continental Divide.

PROGRAMS AND SERVICES

The following pages briefly outline the committees and services available to members of AIA Colorado. The AIA Colorado Board of Directors invites and encourages your active participation in AIA at the local, state and national levels. Your involvement means fellowship with your peers, furtherance of your career and a continuation of your education. Volunteer your expertise — join a committee, sponsor an intern, submit an article to a newsletter, run for the Board, suggest a new service, attend the Annual Conference. Your participation and input are necessary for the continued success of this membership body.

AIA COLORADO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Board of Directors is the governing body of AIA Colorado and develops all immediate and long term positions and policies for the state. If there is a subject of concern for you or if you have a proposal for the Board, please call AIA Colorado by the 10th of the month. A time will be scheduled for you during the Board meeting to offer your input. AIA Colorado board meetings are held on the 3rd Friday of each month at 2:30 p.m. All members are welcome to attend.

AIA Colorado Committees

Government Affairs

Chair: Thomas E. McKenzie, AIA

This committee meets at the Carriage House on the second Friday of each month at 2:00 p.m. to discuss matters relating to, among other things, the State Board of Examiners of Architects and legislation at the federal and state levels. During the 120-day Colorado legislative session, the Legislative Sub-Committee meets at 7:30 a.m. each Friday morning to screen and discuss potential legislation which could impact the profession of architecture. Jerry Johnson, with Colorado Legislative Services, assists AIA Colorado in this monitoring process. The 1994 session of the Colorado Legislature will run from Wednesday, January 13th through May 11, 1994.

Annual Conference

Chair: Dayl A. Larson, FAIA

This committee is responsible for the planning and execution of AIA Colorado's Annual Conference. This conference chair is appointed by the President-Elect of the year prior to the year of the conference to be chaired. (We must always plan far in advance for this one). The 1994 Annual Conference will be held on December 9 and 10, 1994 at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs. Committee members develop the theme for each conference, invite speakers and coordinate the two day schedule. The 1994 Annual Conference committee has selected a theme: "Visibility in the Changing Profession." Member participation and input is encouraged.

Finance Committee

Chair: Dennis R. Humphries, AIA

This Committee is responsible for the financial well-being of AIA Colorado. The committee develops long-range financial goals plus makes recommendations to the Board regarding budgets and other areas of financial planning. Membership dues, the Annual Conference, support of exhibitors and document sales generate the revenue necessary for the operating budget of AIA Colorado.

Nominating Committee

Chair: Alan H. Zeigel, AIA (1994 President-Elect)

This committee is composed of at least five (5) AIA Colorado architects, selected on the basis of one representative from each AIA Colorado chapter (appointed each year at the June meeting of the Board of Directors) and chaired by the current President-Elect. The Nominating Committee recommends at least two (2) nominees to run for each officer's position on the AIA Colorado Board of Directors.

Blow-In-Blanket System (BIBS)

IMPROVED R VALUES

BIBS higher density delivers R15 in 2x4 construction, and R23 in 2x6 construction.

LESS AIR INFILTRATION

Tests by the NAHB Research Center showed that BIBS reduced air infiltration 68% over conventional insulation without a house wrap.

GREATER SOUND CONTROL

A .001% void can reduce STC by 50%. BIBS completely fills around all objects eliminating gaps, voids and seams.

AIA Colorado Task Forces

Carriage House Task Force

Chairman: Dennis R. Humphries, AIA

This Task Force was formed to study and make recommendations to the Board on the maintenance and improvement necessary for the Carriage House — the property owned by and housing the offices of AIA Colorado. Maintenance and improvements to the Carriage House have included: painting, carpeting, and a study for ADA compliance. One of the challenges faced by the Task Force in 1994 — finding a buyer for the Carriage House.

Joint Office Relocation Task Force

Chairmen: Dennis Humphries, AIA (AIA Colorado) and Peter Orleans (AIA Denver)

This Task Force was formed to facilitate the joining of the offices of AIA Colorado and AIA Denver into one office space which will be designed by a team selected by the JORTF Task Force.

Education Task Force

The charge of this task force was to determine a way for the 4-year School of Environmental Design in Boulder and the Graduate School of Architecture and Planning in Denver to either communicate better or perhaps rejoin the two schools. The schools rejoined as the New College of Architecture and Planning. The Task Force is now monitoring the progress of the newly joined schools.

Fellows Task Force

Chairman: John D. Anderson, FAIA

The Fellows Task Force was formed in 1992 and continues to assist the local chapters in nominating their outstanding members to be considered for election to the College of Fellows. The Task Force assists those architects nominated in developing their submissions to the Jury of Fellows.

Educational Fund of AIA Colorado Permanent Trustee: Kenneth R. Fuller, FAIA

The Educational Fund awards scholarships and grants to architectural students, faculty members, architects and AIA components each spring. Application deadline for these scholarships is, historically, March 1st of each year. Approximately $25,000 is distributed annually by the Fund.

AIA Colorado Coordinators

Membership: Roger K. Crosby, AIA

Successful and continuous membership expansion efforts are essential to ensure that the AIA truly represents the profession. This year, AIA Colorado and the four local chapters have set a combined goal of 100 new members over the 1097 Colorado member total for December 1993. Recruit a friend — invite them to a meeting or chapter activity and get them involved in AIA.

Intern Development Program ("IDP"): Keith E. Hayes, AIA

The IDP program continues to gain momentum in Colorado. Currently, there are 70 Colorado interns registered in this program and calls continue to come in. The IDP Coordinator and AIA Colorado staff sent out over 200 packets last year. The Coordinator also provides programs at CU Boulder and CU Denver, as well as firms interested in the merits of the IDP program.

Qualifications-Based Selection ("QBS"): Karl A. Berg, FAIA

Qualifications-based selection is a negotiated procurement process for selection of design professionals based on qualifications and competence in relation to the work to be performed. AIA Colorado along with the American Consulting Engineers Council of Colorado ("ACEC of Colorado") and Professional Engineers Council ("PEC") are part of a coalition to achieve quality and cost effectiveness in public projects. Please call IIa Bishop at 303/757-3838 for details.

Education: Michael Barber, AIA

AIA Colorado and the College of Business at CU Denver hosted a successful pilot seminar in October 1993. There are three seminars scheduled for the Fall of 1994. These seminars will emphasize the improvement of our members' practices and client business relations.

Environment: James A. Cox Jr., AIA

This year an effort is being made to coordinate programs across the state and keep the members apprised of important environmental issues. A slide presentation is being prepared to take to community groups in Colorado that shows what architects are doing for the built environment.

Public Relations: Elizabeth Wright Ingraham, AIA

AIA Colorado's relationship with the media and other organizations, as well as public recognition of the contributions of architects are of paramount importance to the visibility of architects in 1994.

Region 8 Reinvention Laboratory: John C. Hellgren, AIA and Jeffrey Olson, AIA

Created in response to Vice President Gore's call for reinventing of the U.S. Government, Region 8 of the General Services Administration or GSA (located in Denver) has been designated as the laboratory for reviewing and improving the selection and contracting procedures for design professionals.

AIA Colorado Services

Newsletter ("AIA Colorado Field Report") Editor: Linda T. Smith, CAA

The Field Report is a monthly newsletter published by AIA Colorado to give members: an update on actions taken by the Board, notice of upcoming events (like the Annual Conference), call for entries announcements (like the annual AIA Colorado Design Awards), "short" resumes of those seeking employment, reports from committees, and local chapter news. Articles are welcome. Submission deadline is the 15th of each month.

AIA Document and Publication Sales

AIA Colorado is a full-service distributor of AIA contract documents and forms. Each member receives a 20% discount on all AIA copyright-protected contract documents and a member price on many books published by AIA. Our inventory is kept well-stocked to fill your orders. However, advance notice is appreciated for large orders so that we can replace our inventory and have documents available for the "next guy." Order forms faxed or mailed to AIA Colorado, accompanied by a check or VISA/MC number, are usually processed on the day of receipt. Or, you may pick up your document orders at the Carriage House. Information on the "Electronic Document Service" or EDS is also available from AIA Colorado. Please call for details.

Client Referral File

Each AIA member is encouraged to fill out the Client Referral Form mailed out in November each calendar year and is activated once dues are paid in full. This form is used for the Architect Referral Service offered to the general public. AIA Colorado has listed "Architect Referral" as a free service in its ad in the Denver Metro Yellow Pages. Many potential clients call us for assistance in selecting an architect or finding a speaker or hiring an expert witness and your Client Referral Form is used exclusively for these purposes. Be sure to completely fill out and return your Client Referral Form to AIA Colorado each year.

Job Referral Service ("Job Board")

The Job Board is a service provided to members, the architectural community and architectural job-seekers everywhere. Job openings are advertised for $20 per week per listing on the Job Board which is updated every Tuesday afternoon. Posted in a box outside of the Carriage House, the Job Board is available twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week (about 100 copies are picked up each week). Job seekers can also subscribe to the Job Board by sending self-addressed stamped #10 envelopes to AIA Colorado (approximately 100 Job Boards are mailed out each week).

Annual Conference and Exhibition

The 1994 Annual Conference will be held December 9 and 10, 1994 at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs. Two days of professional development programs, business meetings, social events, major displays of new products and services, and plenty of peer interaction. Mark your calendar now so you won't miss it!

Design Awards Program

The Awards Program seeks to honor works of distinction by our Members and to bring to public attention the outstanding architectural services provided by the members of AIA Colorado. Design Award Winners are announced during the Annual Conference.

Membership Directory

The Membership Directory is a state-wide listing of all AIA members for the current calendar year. This directory is mailed out each year as an informational tool for AIA Colorado members.

Local Chapter Boards of Directors and 1994 Dues Rates

The next eight pages list the 1994 Board of Directors for each of the four local chapters located within the state of Colorado, along with the combined national, state and local dues rates for each chapter. AIA Colorado hopes that you will use this information to contact a local board member or to assist a new member who is considering joining the American Institute of Architects. The local chapters cover the state as follows:

AIA Denver is the largest chapter in Colorado and includes the Denver metropolitan area, excluding Boulder.

Colorado North Chapter covers nine counties in Northeastern Colorado and includes Boulder, Greeley and Fort Collins.

Colorado South Chapter covers 18 counties of South and Southeastern Colorado and includes Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

Prepainted Galvalume Sheet. the bette

Magnificent homes need magnificent roofs. The kind of roofs fabricated from Bethlehem's prepainted Galvalume*
Sheet.

Galvalume Sheet is a cold-rolled steel to which an aluminum-zinc alloy coating has been applied. The result is a highly corrosion-resistant sheet steel that delivers the optimum combination of features of aluminum and zinc: the barrier protection and long-term durability of aluminum and the sacrificial or galvanic protection of sheared edges that's characteristic of zinc.

In addition to durability, color and beauty are also enhanced. That's due to the wide range of color options and finishes that are available. So not only can you add a custom look, but you can increase the value of the house.

What's more, prepainted Galvalume Sheet won't spall, curl or split like asphalt shingles or wood shakes. There are several other important reasons why prepainted Galvalume Sheet roof systems are rapidly gaining in popularity.

For example, fire resistance. Many prepainted Galvalume Sheet roof systems carry a Class 1 Factory Mutual fire rating.

Wind resistance is another important factor. A prepainted Galvalume Sheet roof system with a UL90* rating (the industry's highest) can stand up to hurricane force turbulence.

It's also light. Which means no heavy substructure is required to support it, so reroofing over an existing shingle roof is a breeze.

Another plus: virtually no maintenance is required – a prepainted Galvalume # ecause the better a roof looks, ou look.

Sheet roof sheds snow, ice and airborne debris better than competitive systems.

Look into the advantages of Bethlehem's prepainted Galvalume Sheet.

You'll discover that it does beautiful things for you as well as for homes.

Not to mention referrals.
